Kelly's Picks

Skinalysis and Miriam Quevedo

As we often repeat, the importance of taking care of your skin, but in doing so, we want you to remember your hair has very similar needs, too! This month, let The Powder Room help you monitor your hair using Skinalysis™, the newest innovation for analysis and oversight. While taking care of your skin is paramount, sometimes we overlook other areas of our bodies, so don't neglect your hair this winter! Providing comprehensive analyses, this painless technology will measure hydration levels, sebum production, and so much more to allow us to help you determine which personalized haircare routines will work best while following your specific progress over time. Contrary to what you may think, hair and your skin go through an aging process due to chemicals and environmental damage. Luxe haircare line Extreme Caviar Collection by Miriam Quevedo uses the same advanced technologies utilized in skincare to reverse the signs of aging while also addressing concerns like hair loss. Repair, strengthen, and renew your hair this winter with Miriam Quevedo! Schedule your Skinalysis™ appointment using our socials or call the store – we'd love to hear from you!

Tips from the pros

Did you know that not only the shade of makeup but the proper placement makes a difference in how youthful we appear? Bronzer, blush, and highlighter strategically placed can seriously take years off your face. Let's face it: glowing, bronzed skin will always make you appear younger, and Cabo Bronzer by Girlactik will turn back time by giving you beautifully tanned skin straight from the French Rivera. Next, add Ultra Blush by Face Atelier, a blush that looks natural and, when placed correctly, provides a flush of youth. Finally, finish with liquid and glowing Skin Shimmers by Cara Cosmetics. These shimmers can be applied alone or with your favorite foundation to create the glow of youthful skin. This month, let the professionals at The Powder Room show you how to showcase a younger and more sculpted you while also teaching you how to soften any harsh features you may wish to de-emphasize. Take years off your face by booking your makeup lesson today through our socials, and in the meantime, purchase any of our recommendations at our Shopify store to try your new looks at home!
