Now more than ever, multi-tasking products are taking center stage, not just the usual suspects. Instead of limiting yourself to 2-in-1 or 3-in-1 products, reimagine how you use makeup – think lipstick as blush, eyeshadow as highlighter, blush as eyeshadow. There's no right or wrong here, so don't be afraid to use something for something other than its intended use! When in doubt, let our experts at The Powder Room help you look outside the box with products like girlactik's Cheek and Glow Duos that can be used on the eyes, cheeks, and lips; Nude Matte Shadow Sticks make a tremendous long-wear lipstick or liner or Creamy Eyes by Ellis Faas that can be used anywhere on the face . Let your creativity run wild, or let us ease you into multi-tasking products this Spring by scheduling a personalized Makeup Lesson with Cara so we can show you how to use so many of our products in many different ways!
